SAFFRON
BAGGALLAY

keynote

the trust economy:

Why Emotional Safety Pays Dividends

"The global workforce is showing unprecedentedly low engagement right now."

Gallop Survey On The State Of The Global Workforce 2024

Low Employee Engagement?

In high-performance companies, employee engagement is no longer a 'nice to have'. As with a psychologically safe workplace, it is now an economic necessity.

When a company supports the emotional well-being and psychological safety of their employees, they create an environment conducive to high performance.

When humans don't feel psychologically and emotionally safe as a result of trauma, they become inherently self-protective. This is not good for business.

- Please come ready to ask questions and engage
- Our aim is to get you thinking, feeling and behaving differently
- You will leave with practical, doable tips and tools